 - a) Phases of plan implementation
 - b) Scope of MMSW funding to municipalities
 - c) Methodology to calculate municipal funding
 - d) Steward Financing and fee schedule
 - e) Program launch date
4. Stakeholder engagement and next steps

Let's recap

- MMSW was formed in 2013 in response to the introduction of the SK government's Household Packaging and Paper Stewardship Program Regulations on February 6, 2013
- MMSW consulted with stewards and municipalities throughout 2013 on its Waste Packaging and Paper Stewardship Plan
- MMSW's Stewardship Plan was submitted to the government on December 12, 2013 and shortly thereafter approved
- Businesses required to join MMSW and report by June 2014
- MMSW was initially scheduled to launch January 1, 2015

Why MMSW is submitting a new Stewardship Plan?

- On December 18, 2014 Environment Minister announced the following additional requirements:
 - Permanent exemption for businesses with less than $2 million in annual revenue or generate less than 1 tonne of WPP or operate as a single retail store; and
 - Two-year transition exemption from reporting and paying fees, with the exception of annual $500 flat fee, for all newspaper publishers and all businesses with annual revenue between $2 million and $5 million; and
 - Approval of stewardship fees by the Minister during the two-year transition exemption period
- These exemptions made the 2013 Stewardship Plan unworkable from both a financial and operational perspective
- Following extensive dialogue with government, MMSW has revised its Stewardship Plan

2015 Plan based on revised assumptions

- Not all businesses that supply paper and packaging in SK will participate
 - Permanent exemption for some
 - Two-year exemption for others
 - Some businesses will likely continue to be non-compliant
- MMSW to pay up to 75% of program costs to manage the material its members supply into the residential marketplace

New assumptions require a new approach

- Method required to determine portion of WPP collected that was supplied by MMSW members
 - MMSW is responsible only for its members' tonnes
 - MMSW members will not pay for WPP in collection system supplied by exempt and non-compliant businesses
- But the quantity of paper and packaging supplied by exempt and non-compliant businesses is unknown

How does the revised Stewardship Plan affect MMSW stewards?

Multi-Material
Stewardship Western

Phased implementation

- Transition Period: Begins on the date the plan is launched
- Post-Transition Phase 1: Begins when newspapers and other businesses with revenues between $2 million and $5 million report and pay fees
- Post-Transition Phase 2: Begins when funding to municipalities is based on costs for municipalities to operate an efficient and effective WPP program

Scope of MMSW funding refined

- MMSW to pay up to 75% of municipalities' program costs to manage the material its members supply into the residential marketplace across Saskatchewan
- MMSW will not fund municipalities to collect or recycle
 - Materials that are not WPP as defined in the WPP Stewardship Plan
 - WPP from industrial, commercial or institutional (ICI) sources
 - WPP supplied by exempt and non-compliant stewards
 - Packaging containers, such as oil, antifreeze and diesel exhaust fluid containers, that are intended to be managed by other product management programs

Method for Transition Period funding to municipalities

- Each participating municipality will receive a fixed payment per household served
- Funding will be available to municipalities subject to the terms of a funding agreement and compliance with the collector and processor policies contained therein
- Methodology will also be used during Post-Transition Phase 1 but basis of payment may be revised based on lessons learned

Steward Financing

- December announcement required that the Minister approve stewardship fees for two years
- Revised program plan provides the fee schedule for years one and two
- Fee schedule reflects MMSW's contract with our stewards (the Membership Agreement) which states that the fees must:
 - Be calculated on a fair basis
 - Provide sufficient resources to operate an efficient and effective program
 - Ensure that MMSW incurs neither a profit nor a loss
- After two years, MMSW will re-set fees based on packaging and paper reported by its members and the annual costs to implement its plan

Program launch date

- If the MOE can approve the revised plan by mid-October, MMSW will be able to launch its program by January 1, 2016
- In this case, stewards will receive their first quarterly invoice on January 1, 2016 with payment due within 30 days

Stakeholder engagement and next steps

- MOE has been briefed on components of revised plan
- Briefing with municipal associations took place on July 16 and they will be discussing the plan with their members over the summer and providing comment to MMSW
- Communication to stewards outlining changes made to the program plan was sent on July 29 with a link to the program plan
- Stakeholder comments are welcome
- Board will consider final plan and stakeholder comments at its meeting on September 24, 2015
 - Plan would be submitted shortly after September 24 to MOE for approval

Sharing your comments

- Stewards are invited to share any comments on the revised plan by emailing:
comments@multimaterialsw.ca
- Deadline for submissions: Friday, August 28, 2015
